

Week 9 is here, and I hope you are all excited to be at the end of quarter 1. You did it. You made it through either another half a semester in virtual or your first half of virtual, well done.

Pacing as you see below, we kept with a range (46-50%). Due to Hurricane Ian, we know students may be slightly behind pace. With this said, we would like to be back on pace within the next 2 weeks. What we are needing to occur is for each student to turn in an extra assignment or two each week in order to catch up. If you have any complications or unique situations impacting being able to work, please just let us know. We will be pulling a report next week to identify any students that are significantly (18-24%) behind in classes and reaching out to discuss.

Please know we are here if you all need anything. #RamFamStrong
