

Week 13 is here!! We are seeing some awesome things around SJVS. Just last week we had over 60 students join us for our Gem Mining event. Thank you to Dr. Nagel for leading the charge and for all teachers that came and led the charge with providing such an awesome environment.

Pacing. So many students are doing as need and this is so important to the learning process in a virtual environment. This week we will pull a list of all courses and will communicate with anyone that is 18% or greater behind in any course. Please take this serious as staying on or ahead of pace is critical to retaining the information. You all got this ☺. Please note that if needing additional assistance, please see that on November 18 we will be hosting a help session, on campus from 11:30am – 1:30pm. Please email Ms. Thornton if you will attend. sara.thornton@stjohns.k12.fl.us

This week is very special to myself and many of you out there, Veterans Day. Thank you to all that have served and made the choice to protect and serve our great nation. With that said, please note that there is no school this Friday, November 11. I challenge all students to thank a veteran and open a discussion with one to hear some amazing stories of trial and tribulation.
